

In this picture we can see a man who is drinking at a water fountain. In the background, on the wall there are two signs. On the first sign we can read white and on the second one colored. The water fountain on the left looks better than the one on the right. This picture represents the separation between the African Americans and the white people in the USA? It became a symbol of segregation of in the USA.